About Buurtteam Amsterdam

If you have any questions about care, money, housing, health, work, social contact or safety, Buurtteam Amsterdam is here to help you. There are buurtteams all through the city, so there is one in your district too. A place close by where you can get answers to all your questions. Together we can look at what you need and who can help you.

What is a buurtteam?

A buurtteam is a place in your district where you can get answers to your questions. You can just drop by, or you can make an appointment. You can call or email the buurtteam to make an appointment at one of the buurtteam locations or arrange to meet at another place or at your home. Each buurtteam includes different specialised care workers. They can contribute ideas and give you a helping hand where needed. Our support is free of charge. You can contact us with your questions about:

Care

Money

Housing

Health

Work

Social contact

Safety

You don't have to do it alone

How can Buurtteam Amsterdam help?

Our care workers will look at your question with you and see what solution best fits your need. How we work depends on your question and your personal situation. We look at what you can do yourself and how your own social circle can help. Sometimes a simple answer to your question may be all the help you need. And if you need more support, we can draw up a plan together.

We join you in looking at your particular need.

Together in the district

If needed we can call in another specialist. This is why the buurtteam also works together with other organisations in your district, but always in consultation with you. Organizations we work with, are:

- Parent and Child teams
- GP practices
- Mental healthcare organisations
- Social housing associations
- Residents' groups
- Voluntary work associations
- District nurses
- Care providers
- Community centres
